

It's time for Congressional Term Limits!

With the approval rating of the U.S. Congress at historic lows, it is time to put the pressure on. Congress does not reflect the will of the people because the people are to a great degree excluded from the process. Congressional term limits would:

- ensure more competitive elections
- offer great citizen participation
- bring real-world experience to the Congress
- spread power more equally across the states
- sever the cozy relationships between special interests and entrenched incumbents
- reduce graft and corruption
- bring the Congress closer to the people
